About the INTERFIDE-CRT project

The Southern Adriatic area stands as a unique example of intercultural and interfaith coexistence, fascination for diversity and cross-contamination, peaceful dialogue and mutual recognition, with a great asset of interfaith architectures, experiences and events. Its interfaith touristic appeal is however rather untapped as compared to other international destinations such as Jerusalem, Cordoba, Beirut, Istanbul, Palermo and Kazan.

Acronym for “Fostering Interfaith Dialogue and Enhancing Cross-border Religious Tourism”, INTERFIDE-CRT has the long-term objective to increase the attractiveness of the Southern Adriatic area as an interfaith tourism destination, while creating the necessary conditions for including the area as part of international and European frameworks for religious and cultural tourism.

Thanks to a multi-actor approach, the project will:

- Enhance the competitiveness of cultural and touristic industries in Italy, Albania and Montenegro
- Create the administrative, cultural and technical conditions for the smart management of interfaith tourism
- Adopt a Common Action Plan for the smart management of interfaith tourist destinations

The main expected output of the action will be the INTERFIDE Platform, aimed at collecting all the knowledge acquired and promoting the INTERFIDE cross-border cultural route across the most appealing cultural sites for interreligious tourism experiences in Italy, Albania and Montenegro.
